Administration Forms Core of Trojan Spirit

The core of Chatard High School is the administration, the fundamental building block of the school.

Headed by the principal, Fr. James P. Higgins, the administration, along with the students and other faculty members, works for the betterment of Chatard. Fr. Higgins, now in his second year in the executive position at Chatard, has done a commendable job in all phases of administrative work. His ultimate goal is "to make Chatard number one."

Sr. M. Emily, Dean of Women, and Fr. Patrick Harpenau, Dean of Men, are the primary administrators of school discipline. To most Trojans, however, they are true friends and have a mutual understanding of all types of student problems.

Mr. James Schott, Director of Studies, is the man to see about grade and scheduling difficulties. Whatever the problem may be, it can usually be remedied in the friendly atmosphere of Mr. Schott's office.

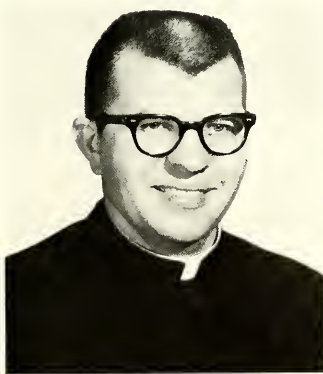

Fr. Gerald Gettelfinger, Guidance Director, rounds out the administration. He is concerned with the student's future, whether he be college-bound or job-seeking. Pertinent information and valuable personal counsel are to be had by the student who stops in to see Fr. Gettelfinger.

FATHER GERALD GETTELFINGER
Guidance Counselor
Religion Department Head
Religion IV.

SISTER MARY EMILY
Dean of Women
English Department Head
English IV.

FATHER PATRICK HARPENAU
Dean of Men
Biology; Religion III.

MR. JOHN FARRELL
Social Studies Department Head
Sociology; World History.

MR. RICARDO MENDEZ
Government; Economics;
World Geography; Sociology.

MR. JOSEPH HARMON
Government; Economics.

MR. DAVID ALEXANDER
U. S. History; Physical Science.

Social Studies Offer International Knowledge

Mr. Harmon gives Seniors the opportunity to learn to be responsible citizens in his government classes.

Active class participation in U. S. History is an important part of Mr. Alexander's classes.

and Understanding

It is essential that every student be familiar with the world in which he lives. An understanding of history and society helps students become alert to the problems of today.

The Social Studies Department, headed by Mr. Farrell, has a wide range of studies. Chatard's social studies program covers U. S. History, world history, government, economics, geography, and sociology.

U. S. History, taught by Mr. Alexander, is required of all Juniors. Mr. Mendez and Mr. Harmon teach the required subjects of government and economics to all Seniors.

It is hoped that in taking social studies, every student will be helped in some way to become a better citizen.

Realizing the importance of money and its management is a primary goal of Mr. Mendez's economics course.

Learning the importance of oral participation is a vital part in the study of Freshman literature.

SISTER MARY CECILE
English III; Religion II.

SISTER MARY IRMINGARD
English II; Religion I.

MRS. JOAN SPIEGEL
English I; Speech;
Journalism.

Sophomores are seen enjoying class as Sister Irmingard interprets an important passage in literature.

Sister Emily guides her Senior English students in a selection from world literature.

English Department Induces Literary Interest

The constructive criticism of various periodicals helps Mrs. Spiegel's journalism class appreciate a quality publication.

No matter what field a student decides to go into, a good background in English is essential to him. He needs to be able to express himself and interpret what other people say or write. The English Department, headed by Sr. Emily, aims to do this.

Besides basic grammar and usage, Chatard's English program also outlines composition skills. The study of literature makes up a large part of the program.

At the end of four years, a Chatard student can expect to have a well-rounded background. Freshmen study literary types; Sophomores, American literature; Juniors, English literature; and Seniors complete their study with world literature.

Cultures Are Explored Through

Mrs. Dunn emphasizes the importance of fine pronunciation to fourth year French students Mary Rushton, Cathy West, and Barb Dean.

Students of Mrs. Minneman's French class repeat another day's assignment.

Spanish students admire the souvenirs from Spain included in the display for the Spanish Club.

Foreign Languages

The chief means of communication today is language, and Chatard's Foreign Language Department endeavors to acquaint the student with every aspect of this field. Under Department Head Mrs. Dunn, students not only learn grammar and usage but they also study the customs of foreign countries.

Various study aids, such as tapes and records, give the students practice in speaking the language, as well as familiarizing them with pronunciation. Films dealing with the culture and industry of foreign nations also help the student in his study of these countries.

A classical masterpiece, The Aeneid, is the subject of Sister Therese's Latin class.

MRS. PHYLLIS DUNN
Foreign Language Department Head
English II, IV; French III, IV.

MR. RICHARD POWELL
Spanish I; World History.

MR. STEPHEN NOONE
Latin I; Spanish II, III.

MRS. JEAN MINNEMAN
French I, II; English II.

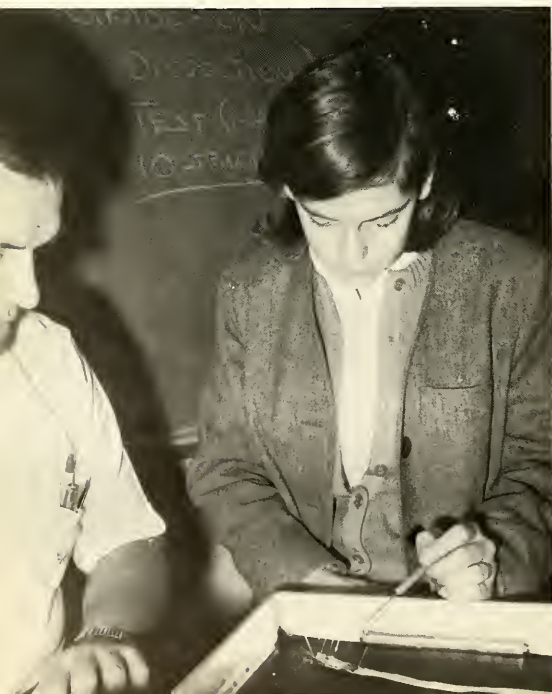

Fr. Hulsman explains the complexities of chemistry to Juniors Kathy Wernsing and Francis McCurdy.

In physics, Mr. Seyfried demonstrates a force principle to his class.

Sciences Instruct Mentally And Physically

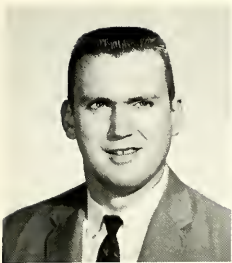

Science, a field of many opportunities, is being explored deeply at Chatard. The student is introduced to the limitless possibilities for discovery in the laboratory classes of physical science, biology, chemistry, and physics.

The newly-acquired weather station, the dissection of a fetal pig, acid-base reaction experiments, and computing forces of motion are only a part of the broad science program.

Under the guidance of Science Department head Fr. Paul Hulsman, Trojan scientists strive for a place in the scientific world of tomorrow.

A steady hand is evident as Lawrie Fink names the parts of a dissected worm for Mr. Purichia.

MR. PATRICK KOERS

Scientific curiosity induces the careful measurement of chemical solutions by Bruce Curson.

With muscles tensed, Freshman girls learn the importance of daily exercise in their physical education classes.

Freshmen, meditating during their retreat, put to practical use what they have learned in religion class.

Seniors await their turn to receive titles for religion term papers.

Sophomores listen attentively as Fr. Schneider explains the mysteries of religion.

FATHER WILLIAM ERNST
Religion IV.

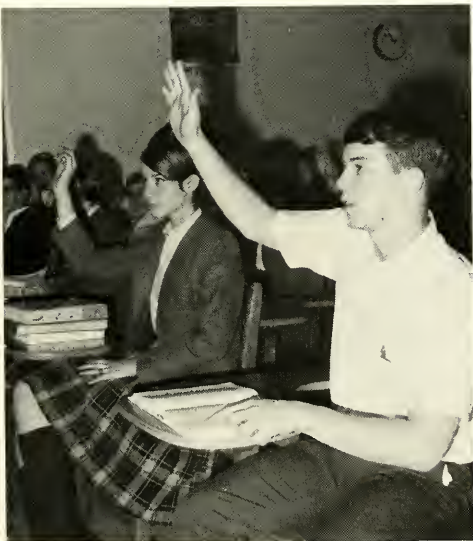

FATHER DONALD SCHNEIDER
Religion II.

FATHER RANDOLPH MARSHALL
Glee Club; Band.

Religion Plays Big Part In School Life

Juniors Liz Brown and Bob Carver show their interest in religion by participating in class.

Under the direction of Religion Department Head, Father Gettelfinger, students at Chatard familiarize themselves with all aspects of their faith. Basic beliefs are taught through classes in Christian Doctrine, Church History, and the Bible, and these concepts are then correlated with practical living.

Besides studying the fundamentals of Catholicism, Religion classes also examine timely questions such as those dealing with the Ecumenical Council and the progress of the modern Church. Through term papers and research assignments, students realize the importance and influence of their religion not only in their spiritual life but in their secular life as well.

Juniors Diane Luecke and Carol Sperber show their skill at setting up tables for graphing in their Algebra II class.

Mathematics Department Emphasizes

MRS. PATRICIA BRAFFORD
Mathematics Department Head
Fundamentals of Algebra;
Algebra I, II.

MRS. RUTH McCURDY
Geometry; Algebra I.

MR. PHILIP SEYFRIED
Algebra II; Drafting I, II;
Physics.

MISS DOLORES KOHNE
Algebra I; Geometry;
College Mathematics.

Mrs. Brafford explains a difficult algebra problem to Molly Pritchard.

Karen DeTamble and Linda Vogelgesang work out a problem in geometric construction.

New Methods

Mathematics, like all sciences, changes with progress. The Mathematics Department at Chatard is changing likewise. Now the math curriculum is expanded to include the fundamentals of algebra, Algebra I and II, geometry, trigonometry, and college mathematics.

Under the direction of Department Head, Mrs. Brafford, Trojan mathematicians learn the new "modern math" as well as the conventional concepts of numbers and number relationships.

As Chatard students progress in their study of mathematics, they acquire a strong foundation in this field. This is the best preparation for whatever the future demands of them.

Having reached the final stage of their math education at Chatard, these Senior trigonometry students work hard to prepare for college.

Students Are Readied For Business And Home

With dividers in hand, Mr. Seyfried shows Bill True the correct method of measurement in drafting.

Typing students try to increase their speed and skill for future personal or office use.

Variation is the key to the Commerce Department at Chatard which offers such subjects as salesmanship, business law, bookkeeping, shorthand, and typing. This year, commerce students represented Chatard at the Archdiocesan Business Convention and the various business seminars in the city. Sister Judith's department is preparing students for a competitive business world besides developing those skills needed in college.

More useful preparation is given by the Practical and Fine Arts Departments. A cultural background is added by the art classes. Also, those studying music at Chatard have had experience performing for parents and students throughout the year. Mechanical drawing offers the practical application of those skills necessary for engineering, drafting, and architecture. Finally, home economics offers a girl the opportunity to become actively proficient in an art she will use in any walk of life. In these classes, Chatard makes its pupils ready for business, home, and further education.

A well-equipped home ec. kitchen helps Deborah Alexander gain efficiency as a future homemaker.

Decorating the lobby windows for Christmas are art students Cathy Lamb and Bob Carver.

SISTER MARY JOAN
Art Department Head
Art; English I; Religion I.

SISTER MARY JUDITH
Commerce Department Head
Shorthand II; Typing I, II.

SISTER MARY VINCETTA
Home Economics I, II;
English I; Religion I.

MRS. MIRIAM LAZO
Shorthand I; Salesmanship

MISS CAROLYN BORDENKECHER
Secretary.

MRS. MARIE FERRIS
Accountant.

Clubs

At an open meeting of the Student Council, the members exchange ideas with Senior class students.

STUDENT COUNCIL: FRONT ROW: B. Curson, S. Mark, P. Flynn, N. Hiatt, B. Antonsen, D. Shiflet. 2ND ROW:

J. Jacoby, D. Keckley, J. Pratt, K. Ferries, T. Hughes, T. Akin, S. Johnson.

Fr. Harpenau checks with Ken Ferries about the agenda for the next Friday afternoon assembly.

Student Council Unifies Trojans

The school's student governing body is the Student Council. This organization, made up of students for the general well-being of the school, strives to establish and maintain a united Trojan effort in everything it does.

This year's council, headed by Ken Ferries, is composed of the four officers and student advisor, the president and vice-president of each class, and various other student committees. Under the direction of the council advisors, Sister Emily and Father Harpenau, the Student Council has succeeded in establishing unity and giving the students a voice in the running of the school.

Lighting the traditional candle, Fr. Harpenau confers on Ken Ferries the office of President of the Student Council.

Officers and committee heads discuss plans to present to the student body.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY: FRONT ROW: J. DeTamble, T. Luley, R. Pickard, N. Flynn, K. Frymire, B. Dean. 2ND ROW: K. Barrett, P. Hickel, B. Bloemker, C. Kurker, J. Downer. 3RD ROW: S. Mark, D. Deegan, P. Flynn, J. Krieg, J. Patterman, C. West, N. Connor. 4TH ROW: G. Ketler, M. Dux, K. Ferries, D. Keckley, T. Hughes, M. Rushton, M. Mannix.

Following the induction ceremony, the new Junior members gathered in the lobby to admire their newly received pins.

Penny Hickel's class in Fundamental Algebra is typical of the extensive tutoring program sponsored by the National Honor Society.

Honor Societies Acknowledge Excellence

Smiling joyfully, Patty Flynn accepts her Quill and Scroll pin during the induction ceremony.

Unlike the social clubs at Chatard, the National Honor Society is the school's means of paying tribute to those students who have excelled in the qualities of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Our own Father John Casey Chapter has also served the entire student body by its sponsorship of a tutoring service and publication of a literary anthology.

Another national honorary having a unit at Chatard is the Quill and Scroll Society. Its purpose is to foster good writing in the journalistic endeavors of our students. To gain membership, one must have performed outstanding service for the Citadel, Trojan Shield, or Teen Star.

Through these two groups, Chatard offers a reward and incentive for student achievement in the academic and the extra-curricular fields.

QUILL and SCROLL SOCIETY: FRONT ROW: C. Shannon, B. Bloemker, K. Frymire, P. Lawhorne. 2ND ROW: V. Francis, S. Carey, P. Flynn, S. Mark, K. Barrett. 3RD ROW: P. Conley, G. Ketter, N. Connor, J. Jackson, C. Kurker. 4TH ROW: G. Buskirk, W. Shircliff, K. Ferries, D. Shiflet, B. Curson.

Nancy Connor shows Janet Courtney and Pat Conley the importance of artistic layout arrangements.

Section editors, Joan Patterman, Penny Hickel, Patty Walsh, and Mary Rushton discuss a picture selection for the Senior section.

Citadel Staff Employs Unified Effort

During a long afternoon session, the copy staff members, Pam Demuth, Gretchen Ketter, and Jane DeTamble inspect the headline position on a layout.

Photographer, Cathy Collet, catches an unwary victim.

This year, the Citadel staff found a hard task ahead — to follow up the excellent job done in last year's first Chatard yearbook. The 1966 Citadel has attempted to iron out some of the wrinkles and still come up with an original publication. The book has been enlarged to add more complete coverage of student life. New paper has been used to make the interior as attractive as the original cover design.

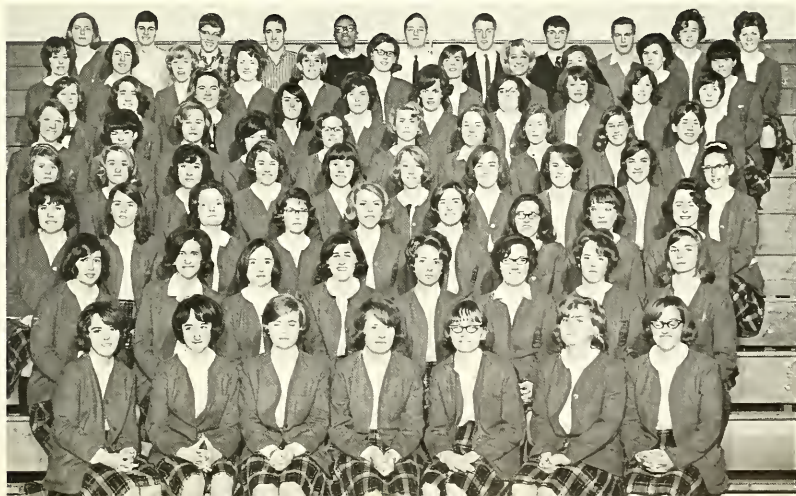

Since September, an inexperienced staff, guided by editor Kathy Barrett and faculty advisor Mr. Noone, has worked long and hard to produce this finished product — the 1966 Citadel.

Editor, Kathy Barrett shows newly received pictures to faculty advisor, Mr. Noone.

Trojan Shield Summarizes School Life

Assistant Editor, Carol Kurker, and Editor, Ken Ferries try to solve a layout problem.

In order to be unified, all of the students should be aware of the happenings in the school. The academic, social, and sports life, along with extra-curricular activities, are of interest to everyone. It is the responsibility of the newspaper staff and its advisor, Sr. Cecile, to keep the student body informed.

The newspaper serves the school by commending those students and organizations that have served Chatard and have achieved academic excellence. A rounded view of school life is presented in the Shield. The staff not only receives experience in applying their writing ability, but also is a great service to the school.

NEWSPAPER STAFF: FRONT ROW: J. Kelley, P. McNamara, M. Lahee, P. Lawhorn, K. Frymire, C. Jones, M. Sullivan. 2ND ROW: N. Flynn, B. Bloemker, M. Miller, J. Quatman, V. Francis, C. Kurker, C. Molly Pritchard, Janet Quatman, Beth Bloemker, and Margaret Miller organize copy to meet a deadline.

Nancy Hiatt and Donna Hurre arrange mission information for the C.S.M.C. display.

At one of the bi-weekly meetings, Cathy West reads from a mission magazine as Gretchen Ketler, Cathy Collet, and Liz Mallon listen.

Mission Unit Developes Active Christians

Discussing projects for the C.S.M.C. mission unit, President Julie Downer meets with faculty advisor, Sr. Judith.

Advised by Sister Judith, Chatard's C.S.M.C. strives to acquaint the student with the work in missionary lands. In connection with this aspect of the C.S.M.C., a lecture on the Eastern Rite Church was given by Father Ajamie. Each individual study group also discusses the problems encountered in a specific country, as well as making much-needed bandages, blankets, and hospital shirts. The members of the C.S.M.C. also collect magazines and toys for distribution in underprivileged areas.

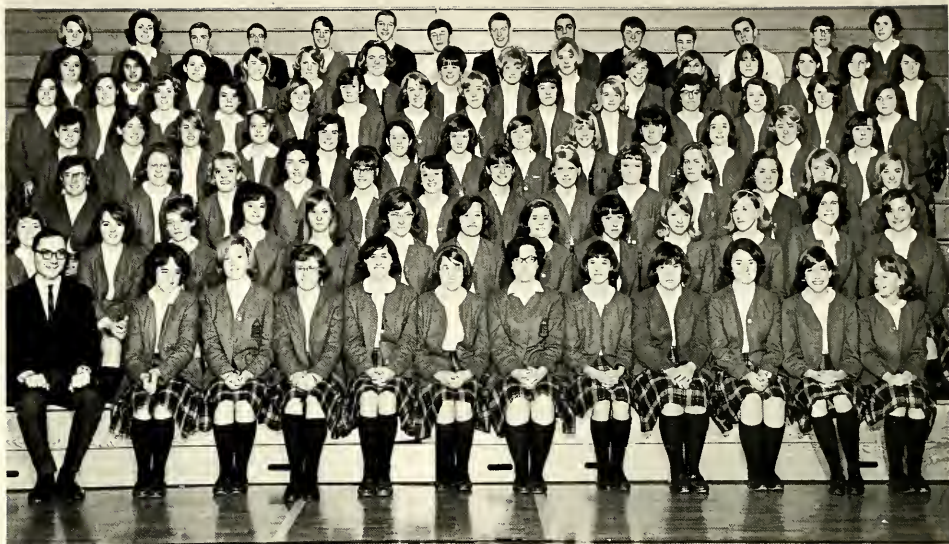

In connection with their motto of prayer, work, and sacrifice, the C.S.M.C. sponsors a weekly sacrifice day during which the entire student body is urged to contribute to the missions. It has also arranged visits to the Little Sisters of the Poor and various old-folks homes.

Paula Myette and Ann Quatman count the weekly sacrifice-day money.

Language Clubs Supplement Classwork

LATIN CLUB: M. Hilderbrand, G. Carey, C. Tuttle, M. Sherer, S. Fleece, M. Lahee.

Each of the three languages offered at Chatard have extra-curricular organizations for those students with particular interest in the language field.

The Latin Club, sponsored by Sister Therese, works on maps, skits, and does research projects. Offices are set up on the same class system used in ancient Rome.

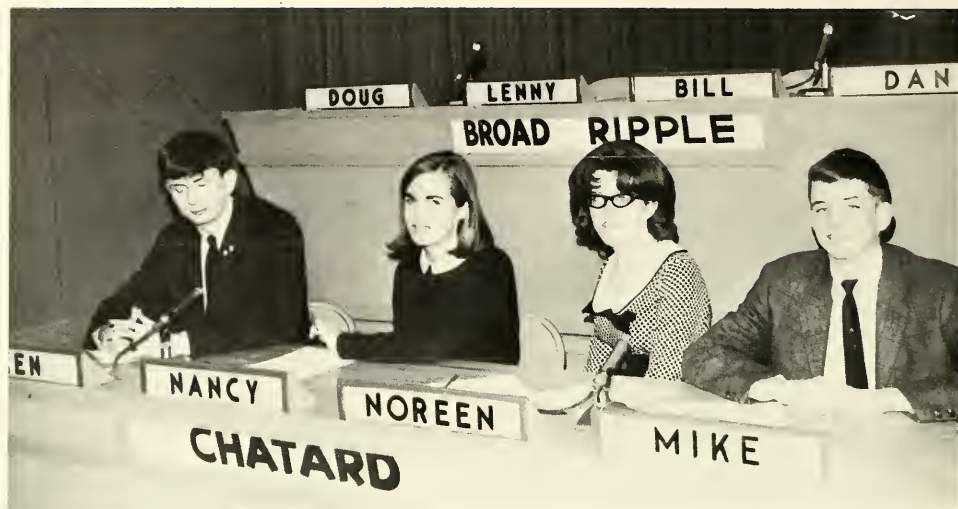

Displays, movies, and new ideas add interest to the study of Spanish. Mr. Powell contributes a great deal of his time to these activities.

Mrs. Minneman advises the activities of the French Club. Among these have been movies of Europe and a sock hop after the Beech Grove game.

FRENCH CLUB: FRONT ROW: J. Newman, M. J. Flynn, J. Redelman, F. Ayulo, J. McFarren, D. Wells, B. Dean. 2ND ROW: J. Courtney, M. Leahy, K. Klaiber, J. Kelley, C. Kasberg, J. Kranzfelder, A. ## Teams Manifest Competitive Spirit

Competition and full participation in school activities need not be limited entirely to the gridiron or the basketball court. This can readily be seen in the school's quiz team and the Girls' Athletic Association.

The quiz team, under the watchful and demanding eye of Mrs. Dunn, spent countless hours in preparation for their appearance on the "Exercise in Knowledge" television program. Despite a splendid effort on Chatard's part, the quiz team from Broad Ripple High School managed to slip by this year's talented Trojans.

In a similar way, the G.A.A. manifested Chatard's traditionally competitive spirit. They spent many evenings after school practicing for their kickball game with Seecina which they won. In addition to kickball, members of the G.A.A. took part in such sports as basketball, tumbling, and volleyball. Thus, girls were offered a chance to take part in athletics on both the intermural and intramural levels.

Trojans Excel in Musical and Dramatic Arts

The Band plays a vital part at pep assemblies by encouraging school spirit.

One of the primary purposes of the Drama Club is to help its members gain experience in scripts, costuming, make-up, and the technical aspects of the theater. They have utilized this experience in their participation in the Spring play.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Noone, the Drama Club presented a one-act play, Sunday Costs Five Pesos, in the Drama Festival at Marian College. In fulfillment of their purpose, the members did all the make-up and technical work themselves.

Under the direction of Father Marshall, the Glee Club and Band perform for the student body at pep assemblies and special programs. The Glee Club also caroled on the Circle and at Glendale during the Christmas season.

Besides providing entertainment, the members of the Glee Club and Band also learn about the various types and moods of music as well as the origins of the traditional music of different countries.

Active Clubs

Support Athletics

The girls of Chatard have done much to foster spirit at our athletic games. Those girls who have an abundance of energy can put it to good use in the pep block. Sponsored by Mrs. Bradford, the pep block represents the school during the basketball season at home games, sectionals, and pep assemblies. The officers represent the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes.

The Lettermen's Club also is a contributor of spirit to our school. All winners of the block "C" letter are automatically members of this organization. They have many functions in school activities. Some of their responsibilities are to collect tickets and to guard the basketball court at halftime.

Student Life

Assemblies Add Variety To Student Life

The gods of the Latin Club inspire Trojan spirit at the pep assembly.

The Homeroom 201 skit boasted some rather unusual specimens of Northwest athletes.

The Junior Achievement assembly gave Alice Bowmen and many others the opportunity to find out various aspects of JA from Mr. Paul Sherer and Mr. Dave Hicks.

Don Roberts advises his assistant coach, Sally Walsh, on some of the finer points of basketball.

With Many Themes

Just what is an assembly to a Chatard student? It is more than a means to shortened classes. An assembly can be many things.

It is athletic. The gathered student body has seen football and cross-country letters awarded. The opponents have been imitated by everyone from Jackie Gleason to James Bond. The pep talks and cheers of the Friday assembly demonstrate the support of the student body for our teams.

An assembly is festive. Before the holidays of Thanksgiving and Christmas, assemblies were held in which the glee club entertained, the band performed, and other skits were presented.

Finally, an assembly is instructive. Activities, such as Junior Achievement, are explained and promoted. Movies, including one featuring Marcel Marceau, are shown with the intention of broadening student's interests.

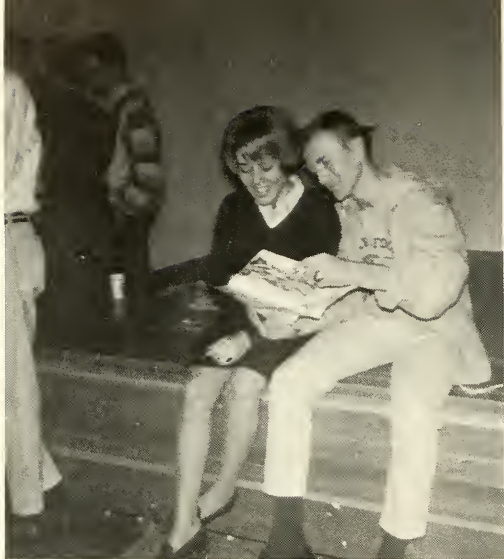

An assembly can be many things . . .

The Christmas assembly would not have been complete without the sound of carols from our Glee Club.

Relaxing a minute between dances, Richard Hingsbergen shows Janet Davis that his name really was in the program.

Rhythmic claps sounded through the cafeteria as Trojans danced to the popular sounds.

Students enjoy a slow dance at one of the after game sock hops.

Trojans Enjoy Sock Hops

By popular demand, Mr. Mendez prepares himself to play another of the students' favorite songs at a post-game dance.

Sock hops play a big part on the social agenda at Chatard. Usually held after basketball or football games, these informal dances often feature such DJ personalities as Mr. Mendez.

School clubs find sock hops to be good money-making projects. Working on the club dance committees is very rewarding in terms of enjoyment as well as the money earned for club activities.

Sock hops offer Trojans a chance to get together socially in an informal atmosphere and to work together for the good of their respective clubs.

Dave Shiflet crowns Sue Mark Basketball Queen of 1965-66.

Nancy Connor was first runner-up representing Chatard at the Heart Fund Dance.

Student Body Elects Royalty

On her throne, Queen Sue Mark enjoys the evening's activities with Patty Flynn and Betty Antonsen.

Honors bestowed at Chatard are not limited to academics and athletics. By popular vote of their classmates, girls are given the honor of representing Chatard as queens of certain functions.

At the half-way point of the basketball season, the homerooms vote to elect a girl official queen of Trojan basketball. To receive this honor, a girl must be representative of all around school spirit in the highest degree. This year's queen, Sue Mark, has shown herself worthy of this honor by her active participation in all phases of school life.

Chatard was represented in city-wide queen competition at the annual Heart Fund Dance held at the IU Medical Center. Nancy Connor, Chatard's representative, carried the Trojan banner high, as she was first runner-up and a member of the queen's court.

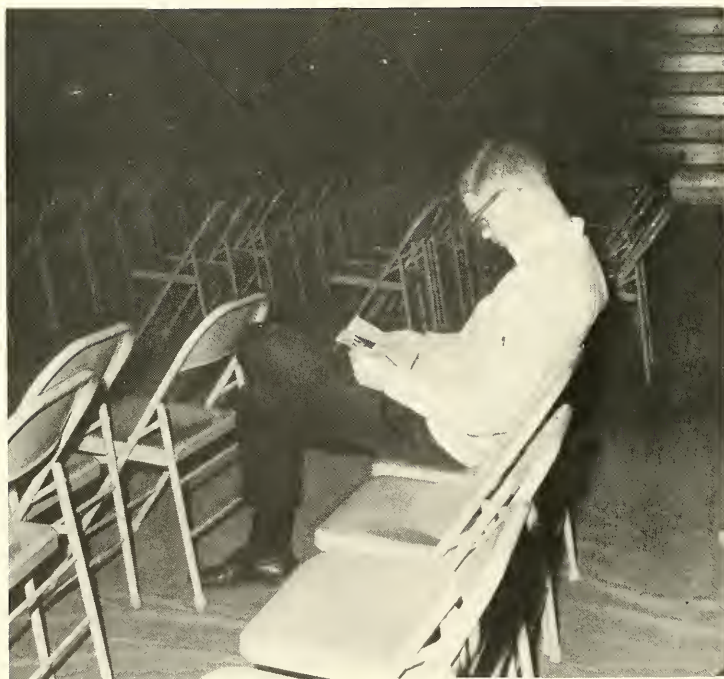

Patty Flynn, a member of the Basketball Queen's court, enters the gym.

Betty Antonsen preceeds Queen Sue into the gym during the pre-game ceremony.

The contemplative mood of a retreat is reflected in the faces of underclassmen as they leave their first conference.

A peaceful moment is found as Tim Akin meditates in the solitude of the gym.

Inspecting a few of the many spiritual pamphlets and books available in homeroom is sophomore Richard Gallagher.

Retreat Provides a Time to Think

The long wait for confession provided a chance for spiritual recollection for Diane Nichol, Brian O'Connor, Bob Lorenz, and Steve Sanders.

As a Catholic school, Chatard not only instructs its students in academics but also helps to direct their spiritual life. Retreat gives the student body an opportunity to take advantage of this religious guidance.

Held during Advent and Lent, the retreats provided a quiet atmosphere in which students could receive the sacraments, pray and obtain spiritual advice. The lectures of the retreat masters presented pertinent moral ideas and problems to the students and offered thought-provoking conclusions.

This opportunity for spiritual enrichment and reflective thought, offered by the retreats, was a worthwhile and rewarding experience.

First Homecoming Reunites Trojans

The first annual homecoming weekend, sponsored by the Student Council, set a new tradition for Chatard's students and alumni. The days preceding the October 8th weekend were highlighted by construction of the class floats, nomination of queen candidates, and preparations for the returning alumni.

Trojan spirit rose with our victory over the Cambridge City Golden Eagles at C. Y. O. field. Following the half-time parade of floats, Debby Connor was crowned Homecoming Queen by Student Council President, Ken Ferries. Queen Debby was presented with a dozen long-stemmed red roses and then took her official coronation lap around the field.

A victory dance, held the following evening, was the climax of the homecoming activities. The autumn decorations provided a fitting atmosphere for the reunion of old friends.

The fans watch with approval as the Seniors' graveyard scene passes by.

Chatard's first Homecoming Queen candidates Cathie Lamb, Debby Connor, Betty Antonsen, Sue Mark, and Mary Albert anticipate the festivities of the coming weekend.

The Trojan spirit of unity and loyalty is expressed in this float built by the Junior Class.

Chatard's Trojan head and school crest rode high atop this float built by the Senior Class.

The ingenuity of the Junior Class earned for them first place during the half-time parade.

The Homecoming Queen and her court anxiously await the crowning ceremony.

Debby waves to an enthusiastic crowd as she takes her coronation lap around the football field.

Queen Debby and Sue Mark welcome seniors Bill Rice and Linda Moore at the dance.

Varied Activities Enjoyed by All

Senior, Anita Hervey, and her "Little Sister", Patty Phipps, enjoy refreshments provided and served by the Senior girls.

Seniors Participate in Solemn

The solemn beauty of a living rosary is a sight unique to the students of Chatard.

Dedication to the Blessed Virgin was shown by the Senior Class in the Living Rosary Program.

Seniors and their "Little Sisters" get ready to leave after an enjoyable afternoon at the tea.

and Social Traditions

In the fall, Chatard Freshmen anticipate making new friends, and Senior's minds turn to becoming the new leaders of the school. Both of these ideas were combined last September in the Big Sister-Little Sister Tea. Each Freshman girl had a "Big Sister" from whom she could seek advice, guidance, and friendship. This event, sponsored by the Student Council, is another first that has a bright future.

Another tradition is the Living Rosary Program which takes place in the fall. The Rosary was formed by the entire Senior class. Girls in long formals held vigil lights, which were lit as each prayer was recited. The whole student body exemplified its devotion to Chatard's patroness, Mary, at this program.

Susie Lathrop helps her "Little Sister", Tina Connor, get acquainted with Seniors Marianne Zapapas and Johanna Fox.

A quiet nighttime view of the lobby windows expressed what Christmas really means to Chatard.

Working hard to make a Christmas-like sight across the street are members of the Junior Class.

Student Body Expresses Yuletide Spirit

Decorations arranged by Seniors Toni McNamara, Marilyn Mannix, and Carol McKay provided a religious setting in the cafeteria.

No matter where you look in December, you can see signs of Christmas at Chatard. The halls were the first to be decorated. Greens, wreaths, mosaics, and lots of work were combined to make almost every door a winner. The cafeteria was adorned by the Freshmen's Christmas tree and a crib scene erected by Seniors. The Juniors, under the direction of Mr. Seyfried, decorated the outside of Fr. Higgins' house. Sr. Joan headed the Art Department's decoration of the lobby windows.

The students themselves also got into the holiday swing. Each class showed its talents in the singing of traditional carols. Finally, the candlelight dance, "One Shining Star," completed the holiday season on a social note.

in Many Ways

Room 302's winning entry in the door decorating contest featured a multi-colored foil mosaic as a background for three handmade candles.

Seniors Debby Connor, Pat Conley, Nancy Connor, and Anne Bowen of Homeroom 310 show their artistic ability as they erect their pear tree.

Seniors enjoy their privilege of wearing floor-length formals at "One Shining Star," the Christmas dance.

Nearing the end of Christmas vacation everyone takes the opportunity to catch up on the latest news.

Socially Active Trojans Enjoy Dances

Sophomores Tom Helwig, Ann Fox, Karen Conley, and Tim Akin relax between dances.

Looking over the dance tally are Seniors "Barbie and Ken."

Berta concedes to Fidel as the play draws to a close.

Talented Trojans Provide Entertainment

Mary Ann Gallagher, Patty Galloway, and Betty Antonsen rehearse a hotel scene from the senior play.

For the past four years, students have represented Chatard in productions for the Archdiocesan One-Act Play Festival held at Marian College. This year, the cast of Chatard's entry, "Sunday Costs Five Pesos," gave Chatard an outstanding performance there. Silver medals for individual acting merit were won by Mary Ann Gallagher, Merilee Dux, and Ron Trowbridge. Completing the cast of the Mexican love story were Pat Conley and Beth Hansen. These and all those who contributed to the play did a commendable job for Chatard.

A special theatrical production was presented by the Senior Class. The entire Class of '66 united in work and spirit to put on "Ask Any Girl." This well-received comedy, besides being an outstanding performance, acted as a final service of the seniors for the entertainment of students, parents, and friends.

Referring to the script for the senior play, student director Marilyn Mannix gives Pat Conley stage instructions.

Rings Move Juniors Closer To

Now that they have their rings, Juniors prepare to take over the job of the graduating Seniors.

Senior Status

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. McCurdy and Mr. Seyfried, the Junior Class has experienced an enjoyable and rewarding school year.

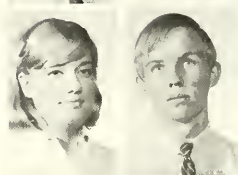

Even before school started in September, the Juniors found themselves already in anxious anticipation of that day in May when they would receive their class rings. Now that day has passed and the Juniors have become proud possessors of their distinctive Chatard rings.

For the Class of '67, Junior year was climaxed with the Junior Prom, which also took place in May.

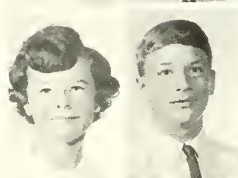

By their manifestation of Trojan spirit and loyalty, the Juniors have shown themselves to be ready to assume the role of next year's leaders.

Sophomores Meet Challenges

These Sophomores are absorbed by a history teacher's lecture.

Led by Joe Jacoby and Tim Akin, this year's Sophomore Class had exemplified the spirit and enthusiasm characteristic of all Chatard students. As a future Senior Class, they have developed the character and loyalty necessary to become strong leaders.

The Sophomores, through class projects, a semi-formal dance, and active participation in school activities, have earned for themselves the respect of the rest of the school. Their ideas and suggestions have contributed a great deal to the overall success of the entire school year.

Freshmen Add To Social Life

This year 237 newcomers at Chatard overcame the confusion of schedules, lockers, and room numbers to meet the challenge presented to them as Freshmen. Their Trojan spirit has excelled in all phases of student life.

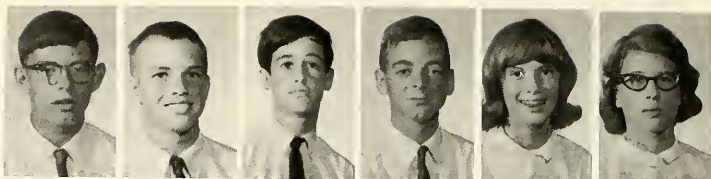

Their athletic feats have been climaxed by an outstanding football season. Socially, they sponsored a semi-formal Halloween dance for the student body.

Taking the cue from the upperclassmen, these Freshmen hold the key to the future at Chatard and have the promise to become the real leaders of tomorrow.

Maintaining enthusiasm and spirit at the games were cheerleaders (left to right) Judy Patterman, Jeanne Daniels, Beth Bloemker, Mary Ann Gallagher, and (center) Margie Gross.

Football Perspective Brightens For Trojans

As he strains to keep his balance, Sophomore Charles Jackson tries to evade the pursuing Seecina tacklers.

Slamming through the Cambridge City defense, Dave Shiftlet pleases the Homecoming crowd with a big gain.

Under the direction of head coach Mr. Carol Purichia, the Chatard Trojans battled to a successful 5-5 season. Outstanding teamwork and effort gained victories over Deaf School, Pike, Cambridge City, Beech Grove, and highly-rated Wood. These victories were attributed to a hard-hitting, fast-moving ground game.

However, five other rivals managed to overcome the Trojan attack. Despite these defeats, the spirit of the student body sustained and supported the team throughout the season.

The hard work and determination of the team won for Chatard the first-place Capitol District Conference trophy. Several Seniors also received Honorable Mention All-City ratings.

In addition, Senior Tim Hughes was rated Most Valuable Player on the squad, and Junior lineman Dan Veza was honored for making the most tackles during the season.

Action Highlights Season

Playing as offensive halfback and punter, Randy Jackson spurred on the Trojan attack.

"Most Valuable Player," right tackle Tim Hughes received Honorable Mention All-City and All Capitol District ratings.

Varsity Team Completes Successful Season

Hard-hitting guard Mike Breen gave strength to the Trojan line.

Halfback Dave Shiflet: Honorable Mention All-City and All Capitol District Conference.

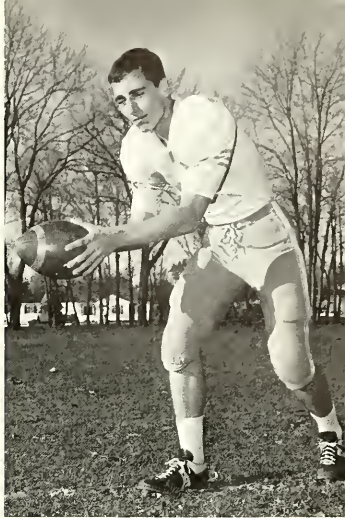

Junior Mike Mendez completed his high school career as a guard.

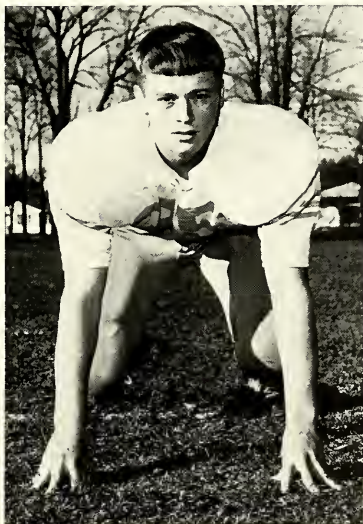

Lending valuable size at an end spot was John Foley.

Alert halfback Richard Hingsbergen contributed speed to the team's offense.

Quarterback Chuck LaMarre gained himself a spot on the All Capitol District Conference squad.

Quickness and spirit made Dan Jones a valuable end.

At his tackle spot, Dan Grau jarred many an opponent.

Determined end Dan Ferguson made Honorable Mention All-City.

dez, D. Shiflet, P. Schultz, R. Cancilla, R. Marlow, J. Williams.

Trojan Wrestlers Show Talent By Victories

Dan Veza—Capital District Conference champion in the 145 lb. class.

In its first year of varsity competition, Chatard's wrestling team brought home a 4-2 winning record. The Trojan grapplers scored victories over Brebeuf, Chartrand, Park, and Indiana School for the Deaf. The varsity also gained 5th place in the Capital District Conference Tourney held at Chatard.

Chatard's Frosh and reserve wrestling teams also posted 4-2 records, asserting Chatard's influence in mat competition for the '65 season.

Jack Moran—Frosh city champion in the 154 lb. class.

Dan Ferguson—Capital District Conference champion in the 165 lb. class.

Mark O'Hara—Frosh city champ in the 103 lb. class.

Varsity Blends Talent And Determination

As the Greenfield defense stands by helplessly, Tom Hughes jumps high into the air for a rebound.

The 1965-66 Chatard Trojan basketball team exhibited great determination to win and equal last year's record. This they succeeded in doing by winning two out of their first four games and several more later in the season. From there on, the Trojans experienced a number of setbacks at the hands of such formidable ball clubs as Shortridge, Northwest, and Wood.

Despite these setbacks, however, the team still managed to assert its influence in the city ranks by outstanding performances against teams averaging as much as five inches more in height. Chatard's leading scorer, Dave Keckley, placed in the city's scoring ranks along with freshman standout Jim Pratt.

With improvement in mind, Chatard sets its sights on future basketball games and victories.

Coach Moran and the coach from Wood get their pre-game briefing from the referee.

Trojans Have Action-Packed Season

Keeping the crowd informed of the action and recording the game's statistics are Mr. Mendez, Mr. Noone, and Mr. Schott.

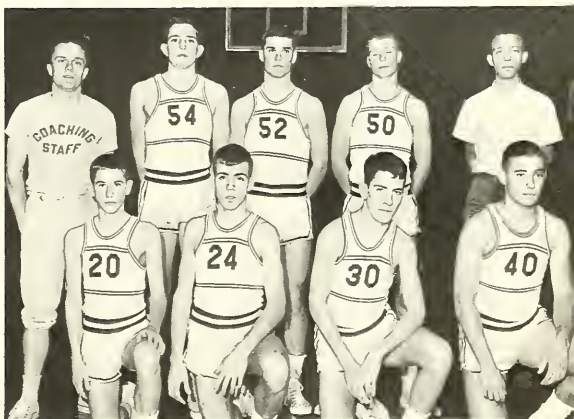

Trojan teammates watch in anguish as the Secena opponent snatches the rebound from the grasp of Tom Hughes.

With the help of fellow Trojans under the basket, Junior Bill Gillespie pulls down another rebound at the Nineveh game.

During a time out, both teams huddle to refresh tactics.

RESERVE BASKETBALL TEAM: FRONT ROW: O. Stocker, B. Nicholls, J. Jacoby, T. Christenberry. 2ND ROW: Coach D. Alexander, J. Thompson, T. Akin, J. Norris, Mgr. H. Guynn. Missing were J. Hilgenberg, M. Thacker, J. Bethuram.

Coach Moran gives helpful strategy to the team during a time out.

Using their size as an advantage under the basket, Tom Hughes and Charlie Gynn leave the Ninevah foe with no means of escape.

Underclassmen Have Potential

Cindermen Have Successful Season

This year's cross country team compiled a 3-4 record, the best in Chatard's history. Mr. Moran's Trojan runners covered many gruelling miles in accomplishing this feat.

The most impressive victory of the '65 season was a double triumph over arch-rival Brebeuf's varsity and reserve teams.

The 1965 track team was loaded with underclassmen but did well against more experienced city competition.

Next year's cross country and track teams promise to be even more outstanding with many experienced underclassmen returning.

Dave Keckley, Tom Hughes, and Paul Wykes relax during a cross country practice session.

Tom McNamara rounds the corner on his way to the finish line at a cross country meet.

Individual Prowess Shown In Tennis And Golf

In the spring, much athletic effort is directed to the building of two relatively new sports at Chatard. Although almost totally inexperienced, the golf and tennis teams exhibit tremendous enthusiasm and spirit. Their interest and determination are exemplified by the hours of concentrated practice they put in.

These teams have not yet achieved significant recognition; but if their participants continue to show the spirit they have now, there is no doubt as to their future success.

lin. BACK ROW: Coach Alexander, John Brown, Dan Ferguson, Joe Daugherty, Harold Queisser, Tom Christenberry, Bill Kelly, Coach Parichia.

No-Hitter Highlights Baseball Season

The varsity diamondmen made a good showing during the '65 season with a 6-10 record. Last season, Chatared's schedule included games with all city schools. Victories were gained over such schools as Chartrand, arch-rival Brebeuf, and Wood.

The highlight of the '65 season was a 12-1 victory over Chartrand. This rode on a no-hitter pitched by Trojan ace-pitcher Jim Mullin.

With the '65 baseball season as a springboard, the Trojans set a winning season as their goal for 1966.

From the first block of copy to the final layout, the production of the 1966 Citadel has exemplified its theme. Only through the unified efforts and dauntless spirit of the staff members has this book been made possible. I could never adequately express my gratitude for all their sacrifices. Our reward will come from the enjoyment you receive from this edition. I hope you consider our efforts a success.

Sincerely,

Kathy Barrett
